

VANDAL
GUARD™
Anti-Graffiti Laminate

Laminating Tips

Tip # 1: Use two pieces of tape to remove the laminate from the liner.

If you're having trouble removing the laminate from the liner attach one piece of tape to the laminate and one piece to the liner (near the corner) and pull apart.

Tip # 2: Laminate in 8' to 10' sections at a time.

Vandal Guard is dimensionally stable whereas the printed PVC vinyl is not. Laminating in smaller sections reduces the risk of tunneling and creasing if the vinyl happens to not be fed straight into the laminator.

Tip # 3: DO NOT let laminated prints fall to the floor.

Prints laminated with Vandal Guard will not smooth as easily with a heat gun if allowed to fold and crease during lamination. It is critical to avoid over-stretching vinyl or laminate or folding and draping the graphics in such a way as to create a crease.
